“Resources Available for Graduate Students”

Ms. Kim Fulbright,
Associate Ombuds,
Office of the University Ombuds,
University of Cincinnati

Date: September 12, 2014
Time: 12:20 - 1:15 pm
Venue: Braunstein 201

ABSTRACT:
Conflict is inevitable so it is critical to learn how to manage it effectively. In this session graduate students will learn about the role and services provided by the Office of the University Ombuds including when it can be a personal resource or an effective referral made to others. The presentation will also cover basic conflict management strategies necessary for interpersonal conflict within academia.

BIO:
Ms. Kim Fulbright, M.A. has been in the role of the Associate Ombuds since January 2013. Previously she worked at the University of Cincinnati’s Women’s Center. Kim has taught as an Adjunct instructor in the Department of Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies. The staff of the Office of the University Ombuds is committed to being an informal, confidential, impartial and independent conflict management resource for the University of Cincinnati community. Providing conflict coaching, facilitation, mediation and various trainings the office works to empower individuals to resolve conflict in a healthy and productive way. Kim is a member of the International Ombudsman Association and the Association for Conflict Resolution.